OPUS COMMUNITY FOUNDATION ANNOUNCES 15 GRANT AWARDS TO NONPROFITS IN LOS ANGELES AND ORANGE COUNTIES

IRVINE, Calif. – March 16, 2011 – Opus Bank and the Opus Community Foundation announced today the foundation’s first 15 grant awards approved by the Opus Community Foundation’s Board of Directors. The Opus Community Foundation was established on September 30, 2010 with a mission to improve the quality of life of individuals and families living in or around Opus Bank's communities, particularly for the least advantaged, by providing financial support to nonprofit organizations that make a positive and meaningful impact in the community.

Stephen H. Gordon, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Opus Bank and Chairman of the Opus Community Foundation, stated, “While Opus Bank is focused on supporting and rebuilding our communities by providing much needed capital funding to small and mid-sized commercial businesses, entrepreneurs, real estate investors, high-net-worth individuals, professionals, and consumers, there are other vital needs in our communities that we can and will try to meet through the Opus Community Foundation and partnerships with established and successful nonprofit organizations, such as those we’ve just announced today. The Opus Community Foundation is pleased to partner with those organizations that reach deep into our communities and offer a wide range of programs that develop and inspire our youth, or train and encourage those searching for jobs and housing.” Gordon concluded, “Through Opus Bank and the Opus Community Foundation, we are committed to making a difference, leading by example, having an impact, and doing our part to lead the economic turnaround.”

Katie Steele, Executive Director of the Opus Community Foundation, commented, “Opus Bank and the Opus Community Foundation are aligned and well-positioned to achieve a rare degree of social impact through a sincere and remarkable focus on rebuilding our community. Through this collaborative effort, the Opus Community Foundation will focus on supporting charitable organizations that are addressing the most pressing needs in our communities and are developing long-term, self-sustaining solutions.”

The foundation’s grants were awarded to Los Angeles and Orange County-based nonprofit organizations with a focus on affordable housing, community development, education, financial literacy, or the arts. These groups include:

Affordable Housing Clearinghouse received a grant to support their programs focused on the creation of affordable housing throughout Southern California.

Boys and Girls Club of Los Angeles Harbor received a grant to support their facilities and programs, which provide at-risk kids a safe environment where they can develop their full potential in academics, the arts, and athletics.

Clothes the Deal received a grant to support their programs that provide business clothing and job preparedness workshops to low income individuals re-entering the workforce throughout Los Angeles County and surrounding areas.

Freedom 4 U received a grant to support their creative arts, life skills, music, and leadership and service programs for the youth in the Palos Verdes Peninsula community.

Habitat for Humanity of Orange County received a grant to support their Family Services and Volunteer Services programs.

Irvine Public Schools Foundation received a grant to support their Innovative Teaching Award Program that promotes and sponsors classroom programs designed by individual teachers in the Irvine School District.

Junior Achievement of Orange County received a grant to support their programs for low-to-moderate income students in North Orange County.

Manhattan Beach Education Foundation received a grant to support their programs, which provide resources for a broad, engaging curriculum beyond what can be offered through public funding.

Mind Research Institute received a grant to sponsor their math instructional software and systems in schools located in low-to-moderate income neighborhoods. MIND Research Institute's innovative visual approach teaches math concepts using language-independent software lessons that reduce the language barrier for students learning math.

Orange County Performing Arts Center received a grant to provide access to the Center's "On Stage at the Center" to students from schools in low income areas in Orange County.

Orangewood Children's Foundation received a grant to support their programs focused on strengthening at-risk families to prevent abuse before it starts, supporting children in foster care and at the Orangewood Children's Home, successfully transitioning foster teens into independent adulthood, and inspiring involvement from the community.

Palos Verdes Art Center received a grant to support their Art at Your Fingertips program, which brings affordable visual arts education to elementary school classrooms from developmental kindergarten through sixth grade.

Richstone Family Center received a grant to support their programs that are designed to prevent and treat child abuse, strengthen families, and prevent violence in families, schools and communities.

Taller San Jose received a grant to support their programs that provide workforce training skills, which are reinforced with life skills instruction in financial literacy, healthy relationships, and other personal development topics.

YMCA of Orange County received a grant to support before and after school child care programs for low income and at-risk school aged kids in Title 1 schools in Tustin and Santa Ana.
